QUESTION ONE

Promade Agencies (PROAG)

Promade Agencies is private company specialized in buying, distributing and retailing a variety of products. Some of the items it deals in include household capital equipment. Others include the operational supplies like stationery, printing, products as well as other small value items. However, there are specialist technical experts buying I.T. building items which have been centralized.

The Procurement Manager, Ali Juma has been employed for about ten months. Ali Juma was summoned by the General Manager who gave him the following briefs regarding as to why his predecessor was dismissed. Some of the General Manager's dissatisfaction was:

- Frequent staff absence
- Very many invoices received per week
- Value of invoices too trivial
- Many purchase orders placed per month
- Purchase orders value placed to trivial

Ali Juma was told not to sleep on the job as his predecessor. He was told that the change was required immediately. The General Manager concluded by telling Juma that the board will not hesitate sacking everybody in that department if they cannot practically demonstrate its added value to Promade Agencies. Juma was given one month to present his report to the board on the changes he has put in place. Required
